The Ohio State University’s Second Annual Valve and Structural Heart Disease Conference: Transcatheter Management of Aortic Valve Disease

Target Audience:
Cardiovascular Surgeons, Cardiologists, Primary Care Physicians and Nurses

This one-day symposium will familiarize the Cardiovascular Surgeon, Cardiologist, Primary Care Physician and Nurse with new state-of-the-art-catheter-based therapies for the treatment of senile degenerative calcific aortic valve stenosis. Following completion of this course, the participant will clearly understand who are candidates for this revolutionary new treatment modality for valvular heart disease. A live case presentation of a valve implant will illustrate the technical aspects of the procedure as well as the potential pitfalls and advantages of new catheter-based valve therapies.

AT THE CONCLUSION OF THIS ACTIVITY PARTICIPANTS SHOULD BE ABLE TO:

1. Identify the current treatment options for patients with severe aortic stenosis.
3. Describe the outcome data relating to the safety and efficacy of transcatheter aortic valve replacement.
