Friday, October 16, 2015

Biomedical Research Tower
460 West 12th Ave, Columbus, OH 43210

Sponsored by The Center for Women’s Health at The Ohio State University Wexner Medical Center

Course Description:
The field of women’s health and menopause is rapidly evolving and guidelines are expanding to include gender related issues. Continued advancements in the diagnosis and management of diseases with gender related issues have challenged the clinician with both timely and appropriate decision-making. This conference will allow the participants to gain a better understanding of the current treatment strategies as well as future therapeutic options for conditions affecting women in the postmenopausal years, such as hyperlipidemia, sleep disorders, sexual dysfunction, and mental health.

Objectives:
Upon conclusion of the program, learners should be able to:

1. Discuss menopausal symptom management.
2. Describe the impact of menopause upon sleep patterns, sexual health, lipids and mental health.
3. Discuss case based management of women’s health issues including mental health, sexual health, hyperlipidemia and osteoporosis.

2nd Annual Bernadine Healy Lectureship:
Our keynote speaker is Andrea LaCroix, PhD, who is a Professor at the Division of Epidemiology within the Department of Family & Preventive Medicine at the UC San Diego School of Medicine, and the Director of UC San Diego’s Women’s Health Center of Excellence. Dr. LaCroix specializes in the health of postmenopausal and older women and has built and sustained a research program that spans the broad areas of causal epidemiologic studies, improving health services and testing preventive interventions that have improved public health and clinical care for women across the lifespan. In addition to WHI, she leads the Data Coordinating Center for the Menopause Strategies: Finding Lasting Answers for Symptoms and Health (MsFLASH). Dr. LaCroix has served on the National Advisory Council on Aging, the Clinical Trials Advisory Panel, and chaired the BCA-B Study Section for the National Institute on Aging.
