You’re Invited! Quality and Patient Safety Presentation Series

Hand Hygiene and Clostridium Difficile

Join Chief Quality and Patient Safety Officer Susan Moffatt-Bruce, MD, PhD, and Julie Mangino, MD, Medical Director, Department of Clinical Epidemiology for an open discussion to help you:

• Describe what a Clostridium difficile (C. diff) infection is, how it is commonly acquired and its symptoms;
• Learn what patient care units and Environmental Services are doing to reduce the transmission of C. diff infections; and
• Learn what you can do to prevent a C. diff infection.

March 4 – 10 is National Patient Safety Awareness Week

Continuing education credits available (see page 2).
